AUSTRALIAN BUREAU OF STATISTICS

This is the sixth issue of this publication (previously named the Compendium of Municipal Statistics), earlier issues being published in 1957, 1964, 1968, 1972 and 1975. Most of the statistics contained in this Compendium have appeared in other Bureau publications; however, to avoid the need for a user to consult many publications for a diversity of information on a particular local government area, the Compendium brings together a wide range of statistics for each local government area. To meet the growing demand for this type of information it is planned to continue to issue the Compendium at intervals of about three years.

EXPLANATORY NOTES AND DEFINITIONS

Local Government Areas

There are 49 local government areas in Tasmania (46 municipalities and the cities of Hobart, Launceston and Glenorchy) which are grouped into four statistical divisions. (The Northern and Mersey-Lyell Statistical Divisions are each further divided into two sub-divisions.) The divisional structure is indicated in the map on page 28 of this issue and in the listing on page 26. Four southern municipalities are partitioned between two statistical divisions - the Hobart Statistical Division and the Southern Statistical Division. These are indicated by the symbols (H)(S) denoting that part of the area is in the Hobart Division and the balance in the Southern Division. A single symbol (H) or (S) indicates that a local government area is wholly included in one statistical division. A map showing the Hobart Statistical Division appears on page 29.

Notes Applying to Particular Items

Item descriptions have been abbreviated to conserve space and no explanatory notes appear beneath tables. Before using any of the statistics, the reader is advised to refer to the relevant explanatory notes and definitions applying to particular items which are set out below:

Item no.	Explanatory notes and definitions
1	Areas controlled by local government authorities are to the nearest 10 square kilometres except for Hobart, Launceston and Glenorchy. The area of these three cities is to the nearest square kilometre. The area of Tasmania is to the nearest 100 square kilometres.
2	Municipal estimates are based upon natural increase since the latest census and limited information on movements of population since the latest census.
3,4	Census results adjusted for under-enumeration.
6	Intercensal increase (decrease) as a compound annual rate of growth (decline) per cent between Census dates.
7,8	Events are coded to the municipality of usual residence of: (i) mother for births; (ii) deceased for deaths. The Tasmanian totals include the following events for persons not usually resident in Tasmania: births, 11; deaths, 20. Figures are compiled according to the date of registration, not the date of occurrence.
9-11	Censuses are conducted on a 'de-facto' basis, i.e. people are recorded in the place where they spent census night.
9-47	Due to financial cuts the Bureau was unable to process all of the 1976 Census schedules. At final processing all schedules from non-private dwellings (motels, hotels, gaols, etc.) were processed. For private dwellings only 50 per cent of schedules were processed (except for the Northern Territory where all the schedules were processed). The sample was selected at the collection district (CD) level by either taking the first or second private dwelling schedule and then systematically taking every second private dwelling schedule thereafter. A factor, usually close to two, was then applied to obtain the CD estimates of persons by characteristics. Since the estimates are sample based they will probably differ from the results that would have been obtained from complete processing. (The larger the estimate the closer it would be to the result from a full count.) Since estimates have been obtained by application of decimalised factors and then rounding the parts will not always add to the total (e.g. males plus females will not always equal persons). For a full explanation see the Bureau publication Making Sense of the Census (Catalogue no. 2129.0) which is available free from any Bureau office.
21	Excludes permanently separated.
22	Excludes external Australian territories.
25-34	Industry is the type of productive activity, business or service carried out by the establishment in which a person is employed. Within a single establishment people may perform a variety of types of work (occupation) but all will have the same industry classification. Classification of establishments to industry is based on major activity of each establishment. The classification used was the Australian Standard Industrial Classification (ASIC), Preliminary Edition, 1969 . People are classified in the municipality where they spent census night; if their place of work is another municipality then their industrial classification relates to industries in that other municipality.
25	Includes services to agriculture, e.g. sheep shearing, aerial agriculture.
26	Includes quarrying and services to mining, e.g. petroleum and mineral exploration.
28	Includes electricity generation and distribution, gas production and distribution, water storage and supply, sewerage and stormwater drainage.
30	Includes wool selling brokers, stock and station agents, wholesalers of farm supplies, milk and bread vendors and door-to-door salesmen.
31	Includes persons employed by establishments mainly engaged in providing air, road, rail and sea transport for passengers and freight; terminal facilities for passengers and freight; related services, e.g. motor car parking, car rental, stevedoring and labour services, travel booking facilities; and postal, telephone, telegraph, teleprinter and other communication services. Excludes persons engaged in radio or television broadcasting to the general public.

32	Includes persons working in banking, building and credit societies, insurance, real estate, and other finance activities and those working in surveying, legal, accounting, advertising, etc.
33	Includes federal, state and local government employees engaged in public administration and regulatory services and army, navy and air force personnel.
34	Includes education, health, welfare, charitable and religious services; entertainment, recreation, restaurants, hotels and personal services; and police, prisons and fire brigade services.
35	Unemployed persons are those who were actively seeking work.
36-38	The labour force comprises: employers and self-employed persons; employees; unpaid helpers; and the unemployed.
40-42	Occupied and unoccupied private dwellings. Excludes non-private dwellings such as hotels, boarding houses, educational and religious institutions, hospitals, etc. Includes government built houses and flats.
41	Includes semi-detached and terrace houses.
46,47	Students are recorded in the municipality where their school or college is located.
48-55	The statistics relate to building structures and exclude railways, roads, bridges, earthworks and other non-building construction. Renovations and repairs are excluded.
48-51	Statistics of building approvals are compiled from: (i) permits issued by local government authorities covering those areas subject to building control by these authorities; (ii) contracts let as day labour work approved by federal, state, semi-government and local government authorities. Approval statistics cover all new dwellings, new other buildings, jobs valued at $10 000 and over and alterations and additions (to dwellings or other buildings) valued at $10 000 and over.
48,52	A 'House' is defined as a building which has been designed or adapted so that its prime purpose is to be a single self-contained (i.e. including bathing and cooking facilities) dwelling unit which is completely detached from other buildings, and occupies (except in such cases as dwellings built for employees or families of the owner or lessee of the land) a separate titled block of land.
49,53	An 'Other dwelling' is defined as a self-contained structural dwelling unit other than a house as defined above. Included in this classification are flats, home units, semi-detached cottages, villa units, town houses, etc.
52-55	A building is regarded as having been completed when it is reported as completed or, in the case of owner-builders, is reported as completed or substantially completed and occupied.
56,57	Includes: (i) roads controlled by the Department of Main Roads and local government authorities; (ii) Hydro-Electric Commission roads and; (iii) Forestry Commission roads.
57	Includes roads paved with gravel or stones, and roads formed or cleared only.
58	A 'rural establishment' is an area of land (at one or more locations) which is operated as a unit by a legal entity for agricultural purposes with an estimated value of agricultural operations of $1 500 or more.
59	Includes freehold and rented land, and Crown land leased, licensed or in the process of alienation. The total area of all rural establishments is counted, including those parts of establishments not used for agricultural or pastoral purposes. In some municipalities, the area of holdings exceeds the area of the municipality as shown in Item 1 as, where an establishment extends across the boundaries of adjacent municipalities, the total area of the establishment is attributed to the municipality in which the homestead is situated.
60	Includes area used for orchards and small fruits, but excludes area of pasture cut for hay, seed or silage. Areas double cropped are only counted once in this item.
62,63	Barley, oats, rye and wheat harvested for grain.
64,65	Includes oats, barley, wheat, rye, lucerne, grasses, clover, etc. cut for hay.
66	Includes cereal crops, other crops, vegetables and pastures used for green feed and silage.
69,70	All French and runner beans whether for processing or fresh market.
71-72	All green peas, whether sold in the pod (estimated ex-shell weight) or shelled (for processing).
81-84	Number of livestock on rural establishments at 31 March 1978.
82	All cattle, bulls, cows and heifers and calves on rural establishments whether for milk production or for meat production.
87	Average fleece weight per sheep. Includes crutchings but excludes fleece from lambs.

88-92	Excludes electricity and gas establishments which are allocated to the 'Electricity, gas and water' division under ASIC. Since 1975-76, under new collection criteria, only a limited range of data (employment and wages and salaries) is collected from single establishment enterprises with less than four persons employed.
89-91 } 94-96 }	Includes working proprietors and employees on the payroll and those working at separately located administrative offices and ancillary units.
92	Includes wages and salaries of all employees of the establishment and those working at separately located administrative and ancillary units. Drawings of working proprietors are excluded.
93	The basic census unit, in general, for the 1973-74 Retail Trade Censuses covered all the operations carried on under the one ownership at a single physical location. Thus a retail establishment is one predominantly engaged in retailing but the data encompass all activities at the location (e.g. wholesaling). Separately located administrative and ancillary units are not counted as separate establishments.
97	Total value of all commodities sold retail by all retail establishments and similar sales by selected service establishments. Includes only the sales of new and used goods for household and personal use to the final consumer (i.e. excludes sales of building materials, commercial equipment, etc.).
98-106	These details are based upon the annual statement of accounts submitted by each local government authority.
105	Includes interest payments, redemption by instalments, redemption from sinking funds and sinking fund contributions.
107,108	Based on quinquennial government valuations (carried out on a rotational basis, properties in several L.G.A.'s being revalued each year) of all property excluding Crown land.
110	Includes licensed hotels and licensed and unlicensed motels, private hotels and guest houses which provide a bath or shower and toilet in most rooms and have breakfast available for guests.

RELATED PUBLICATIONS

A complete list of publications produced by the Tasmanian Office of the Bureau appears on the back cover of this publication. Many of these, in particular the 'statistical bulletins', include statistics relating to local government areas and/or statistical divisions and sub-divisions. Those which include at least one table giving details by local government area are listed below:

Census 1976: Characteristics of the Population and Dwellings in Local Government Areas (2432.0) produced by the Canberra Office of the Bureau includes 9 pages of tables for each local government area, statistical division and sub-division in Tasmania. The tables are those generated from the 1976 Census of Population and Housing. Similar volumes are available for other states and territories.

Publications similar to this Compendium which bring together a range of statistics on local government areas and statistical divisions are produced for each Australian State by the respective state offices of the Bureau.

AMIS: In addition, local government area statistics may be obtained from the Australian Municipal Information System (AMIS). This is a data base system which provides a range of data on a comparable basis for each local government area (L.G.A.) in Australia. The range of topics covered includes: (i) population details from the most recent census; (ii) dwelling characteristics; (iii) area and property valuation; (iv) manufacturing activity; (v) retail activity; (vi) rural activity; (vii) population estimates, births and deaths; (viii) building activity; (ix) roads; and (x) local government authority financial data.

The impetus behind the establishment of AMIS was the need for comparable data on L.G.A. activities measured by the revenue collected and the expenditure on services provided. Consequently the System is weighted toward these statistics and provides not only actual figures for each of the last eight financial years, but also percentage of category totals and state totals are derived and listed. However, it is noted that data available from AMIS is generally not as up-to-date as that included in the most recent issues of printed publications. Users can obtain details relating to selected L.G.A.s or to any grouping of L.G.A.s within a state.

AMIS is not a publication in the normal sense in that there is no printed statistical publication which can be provided to users. A printed AMIS Manual of some 43 pages describes the System and how to interpret the data it contains, and is available free of charge from offices of the Bureau. The data itself is available on request, in the form of computer printout, photostat copies of computer printout (reduced to about half size), microfiche, or on magnetic tape for input to a user's own computer. (For further information, ring the Bureau on Hobart 20 4910.)

Further information about Tasmanian Office A.B.S. publications is included in the Catalogue of Publications, Tasmanian Office 1977. All publications produced by the A.B.S. are listed in the Catalogue of Publications (1101.0) which is available free of charge from any A.B.S. Office.

SYMBOLS AND OTHER USAGES

The following standard symbols are used in publications of the Tasmanian Office of the Bureau:

ASIC	Australian Standard Industrial Classification	r	figure or series revised since previous issue
M	males; F females; P persons	..	not applicable
n.a.	not available	-	nil or less than half the unit shown
n.e.c.	not elsewhere classified	—	break in continuity of the series (where drawn across a column between two consecutive figures)
n.e.i.	not elsewhere included
n.p.	not available for separate publication but included in totals where applicable	(H)	located in Hobart Statistical Division;
n.y.a.	not yet available	(S)	located in Southern Statistical Division;
p	preliminary - figure or series subject to revision	(H)(S)	parts in both Divisions.

Values are shown in Australian currency.

Where figures have been rounded, discrepancies may occur between sums of the component items and totals.
